"Fall" contains the single funniest Lake Wobegon monologue yet written: "Bruno the Fishing Dog." It also contains a typically Minnesotan Thanksgiving recap ("Hors duerves at the Tollefson's, can you believe it?"), and a devastating 24-minute epic, "The Royal Family," that has nothing to do with the Windsors. Owning this collection (and "Gospel Birds") is a must for fans, and a great starting place for newbies.

Such a joy to listen to this man tell his stories. No matter who you are or where you grew up and now live, his tales are sure to remind you of someone whom you know.

I have owned the Winter CD for several years and love it. The Fall CD is just as great. It's a wonderful collection of five stories capturing the season and its themes. I am very pleased with how quickly it got to me. I plan on ordering Spring and Summer later this year.

My grandson and I listened to this CD and laughed and laughed.. He likes to listen to it before he goes to bed...He said it helps him to sleep..This is a really great collection of stories. Glad I bought it

I like Garrison Keillor a lot. The words he uses and the stories bring me back to a simpler time. And he just seems to be timeless and catches the essence of that.

As always, the soothing voice and nostalgic humor of Garreson Kieller is a treasure. Put it on in the car and actually enjoy being at red lights and gridlock traffic!

Lake Wobegon has lots of stories and only one person can tell them in the humor and seriousness as Garrison Keillor tells the stories.

It's Garrison Keillor, what can I say? I could listen to this man talk for hours. Still, a couple of the stories were less than uplifting.
