I am using this series now as I drive around town. The lessons are short enough to be used on a trip to the store, and are spoken very clearly. Basically you listen to a conversation, say about buying wine, and then you are given a few pointers on vocabulary or phrases used in the conversation, then you speak out loud the part of each of the actors in the conversation in succession. The topics are mainly about travel, but there is a good amount of learning vocabulary and sentence structure that makes it useful for a general beginning Italian course. I agree with the first reviewer that you should know just a little bit of Italian before you start these CD's, but I was just hanging around in Italy for a few weeks with no formal training at all in Italian, and that was enough background. You really need a pause button on your CD player for best use so that you can "listen and repeat" (I don't have one in my car, so am constantly using rewind, which is a bit inconvenient). Also some of the lessons are a bit strange, like learning to book a scuba diving session (though you never know...). Overall I am enjoying this series and learning quite a bit from it.

Very helpful. Shipped promptly.
